Eric, 26 years of age, attends SUNY Binghamton. Eric is studying a Masters in Broadcasting and Communications. He didn't listen to his parents when they told him to go to SUNY Oswego because of the Al Roker Broadcasting studio. As you can see, Eric is not the brightest. Eric is trying to make his education more affordable so he picked up a Graduate Assistantship with the Dean's Office of Communications.

Eric is responsible for editing class rosters, inputting questions and answers into the "OpnClik", and pulling information from the program to create physical versions of reports for the professors.

Eric has relatively decent skills when utilizing software. His knowledge of Excell is what landed him the GA.

Eric values sleep, good (cheap) food, his friends at the campus he wasn't supposed to go to, and monster energy drinks.
