Caryie Fischer is a complete over-achiever. She scrutinizes everything that everyone does. Caryie loves being a TA; She feels the power that goes with it, even though the professor notifies her there isn't any power. Caryie has been in trouble several times in her TA position due to accessing information outside of her jurisdiction. It would have been fine, but she went to the students in the class she TA's and harped on them for not participating enough. Caryie is now on academic probation due to her misconduct. When Caryie is not overstepping her boundaries, she is vlogging her college experience. She has two followers; one is her mom, the other is a profile she made for her cat.

Caryie values her cats, online boyfriend that she's never met, and belittling her peers. Caryie is a monster.
